PURCHASE PRICE PROTECTION AGENT

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system, method and computer readable medium for offering purchase 5 price protection for a product and/or service is disclosed. The method, at a first web site, includes allowing a user to enter information associated with a product and/or service that was purchased by the user from a vendor, wherein the information includes the purchase price of the product and/or service and wherein the vendor offers purchase price protection for the product and/or 10 service. The method further includes determining, at a second web site, a price for the product and/or service and determining whether the user is due a purchase price protection refund based on the price determined from the second web site. The method further includes sending a notice to the user informing him of the purchase price protection refund he is due.
